PRESENTS

Saturday, March 11, 2023 at 7 PM LIVE Concert with Big Top Duo

BIG TOP CHAUTAUQUA
BAYFIELD, WISCONSIN

Randy Sabien (fiddle and vocals) and Ed Willett (cello and vocals) are the string duo and musical engine that drives many of the Big Top Chautauqua's most popular shows. These two recording artists have been collaborating for more than 20 years. They bring a wide range of musical styles together, from Folk to Blues and many stops in between. Whether you know Randy from his work at the Big Top or from his regular guest appearances on Garrison Keillor's "A Prairie Home Companion" or from his Wisconsin Public Television special, what remains constant is his mastery of the fiddle, his engaging onstage presence, and his great sense of humor that pervades so many of his original songs.

Cellist, guitarist, vocalist, Ed Willett has been a Musical Director for the Big Top Chautauqua's house band the Blue Canvas Orchestra for the last decade. In his work as a recording artist he's contributed to several hundred records over the span of his career, work that he continues with musicians from around the country. In addition to his work with Randy, he spent several years on the road with Grammy winner Rickie Lee Jones and he continues his lifelong musical project with his wife, singer Cheryl Leah in their ensemble called "Chance".
